

WORLD CAFE

An Exchange of Different
Stakeholder Perspectives on Ethical Issues in Human-
Machine-Communication

JOIN THE CONVERSATION

Through a multi-stakeholder perspective, the aim of this world cafe is to foster closer relationships between different actors from research, industry, and policy, and think together about possible solutions and next steps that can be taken to face current ethical issues in the Human-Machine-Communication field. You can find more general information about the concept of a world cafe here.

KNOWLEDGE

You will be able to share your expert knowledge on the topic, report about your own experiences with ethics in the field of Human-Machine-Communication, and learn from the experiences of others.

PERSPECTIVES

Sitting together on different cafe tables with other actors from research, industry, and policy, you will have the opportunity to hear different perspectives and engage in an open dialogue with the different stakeholders.

NETWORK

This world cafe brings together experts from three different domains: research, industry, and policy. You will get the chance to expand your network and build connections around the topic of Human-Machine-Communication.

FUTURE

Through multiple conversation rounds, we will discuss together specific ethical issues in the field with the aim to collaboratively think about potential solutions and next steps for the future.
